Perry Graduates 16 Students

The Perry school in North Torrance held its annual commencement program last Thursday evening for a class of 16—all of them dressed in white, the girls wearing corsages of tall-man roses. The stage was unusually attractive with floral decorations. Jack Eccleston, a graduate, gave the address of welcome and Hum M. Tiner, from the county supervisor's office, made the main address. Manning Roeder, class president, presented the graduates' gift, a talisman rose tree, and Hazel Munro gave Principal William Earl Brown a card table. Jack Gonner presented the first copy of the school annual to Tiner and Rev. Umstead pronounced the benediction.

The North Torrance students enjoyed several graduation parties. Manning Roeder, assisted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wadams, was host at a welcome bake at Redondo; Principal and Mrs. W. E. Brown held the annual class party at their home and after the exercises Jack Gonner's aunt, Mrs. Rena Solomon, gave him a delightful surprise. Among the friends and

COMMENCEMENT

This Bank extends hearty congratulations to the young people who are graduating. To those who will be starting out in their life's work, we would like to say a few words on savings:

The good things of life generally require at least some capital. A home, a business of your own, complete education for your children, a contented old age: these things cost money, and they are the healthy, normal desires of normal and ambitious people. It is true that some people inherit money but the great majority have to accumulate it, and the only way yet devised to accumulate capital is to save out of current income for a starting wedge.

Experience has proven that if a man or woman will consistently deposit some small part of his or her earnings each week or each month in a savings account, he or she will build up a capital for future protection and advancement.
